

Rotary Cooling Fixture

Allows Adhesive Setup

This tabletop cooling fixture is designed for a small space and features controls to monitor cooling time. After the operator loads the next part and presses the start button, the indexer would not index until the next part to be unloaded has been on the cooling fixture the correct duration of time. This rotary table can hold four parts at a time.

