

Baby Sound Box (Sound Hood)

Small sound hoods can take the edge off of the noise generated from ultrasonic welding. This small plastic sound hood used the existing bolt holes in the welder and is lined with sound reduction foam.

The front is cut back so the operator can still see the part during loading.

Care must be taken when sealing around the fixture because that would affect the force during the weld.